Who needs help:

Identify a portion of your team that needs volunteers. This may be a group with the same volunteers each week, or an area that you want to staff up before a big event.

Why they need help:

List the reasons why they need volunteers. This is not only for your benefit, but for the benefit of other team members and staff who wish to understand the recruiting plan better.

What type of help:

List the job role(s) you plan to recruit. If you don't have job descriptions for these job roles yet, go ahead and create them.

When do they need help:

Identify the time frame for the recruiting plan. This may be immediate or it may be for a future date, such as a special event or holiday.

How we will find help:

Identify no more than three of the recruiting approaches identified in Chapter 2 that you plan to use.
